COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The Assessors have completed their work on the 1958 assessment. Currently the assessment book is being made up from the valuation cards, and it is anticipated that the tax bills will be ready to mail the first days of August, which is better than two months earlier than last year. The tax rate has been established at $27.60 per thousand which is the same as 1957. An individuals tax will be the same this year as last, unless there has been an increase or decrease in valuation or a change in his or her property status.

The total valuation of the town stands at $6,623,170.00 which is $11,763.00 less than the 1957 figures. At the last annual town meeting the appropriations were $435.00 less than the preceeding year. With a drop in both the inventory and the money appropriated resulted in the same tax rate for this year.

The metal roof on the Town Farm barn has been loosened by heavy winds so that one edge had become completely detached from the roof. A couple of men were hired to inspect and renail any loose sections of the entire roof on both sides. It is evident that this was needed as it required twelve pounds of nails to secure the loose sections of metal.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

Hanover Road Surfacing Under Way

Work of surfacing the 4.2 miles of new road in Hanover was begun Tuesday. Construction on this project was started last October by Gardiner contractor, Frank Rossi. The new highway starts near the home of Ezra Chapman near Newry Corner and extends to join the improved section near Hanover village. More than 70 per cent of the work is on new location.

The surfacing is done by Warren Brothers of Fairfield. Asphalt arriving at Bethel in tank cars, is heated by steam from a portable vertical boiler and hauled by trailer truck to a plant set up at a Newry gravel pit where it is reheated and mixed with crushed stone. The bituminous mixture is applied hot to the roadway.

The new location is one of gradual grades and curves. It is now in use the entire length and provides an unexpected change of scene to local folk who go that way.

Bethel Theatre Closes---Plan Motel

After several years of lessening patronage as the result of the increasing competition of television, Bethel Theatre closed its doors Saturday night. It was opened on Dec. 18, 1940, with the feature show "South of Suez," and for some 15 years enjoyed good patronage.

Max Zallen, the owner, has plans for remodeling the theatre into a 17 room two-story motel, and hopes to have the alteration completed in readiness for the 1959 summer season. Preparations are now in progress for moving the Zallen home (the one-time Angella Clark place) to a point near the theatre building.

No changes are planned at present for the former Robertson property at the corner of Main and Elm Streets which Mr. Zallen purchased recently.

ACROSS THE DESK:

Sikeston (Mo.) Standard: We approve of competition, but competition for attention over the airwaves is often disconcerting. If a person subscribes for two newspapers and four weekly magazines, he can read all of them, or parts of them, at his convenience. He can also read current books and play phonograph records when he is in the mood.

But a television demands attention now or never. Even worse is the insistence that a first-class show on one channel must be matched against an equally first-class show on a competing channel at an identical hour. You tune in one and perhaps kick yourself because you are missing the other.

Lewiston Daily Sun: The indictment and conviction by a Federal jury at Portland of the Maine Lobstermen's Association is no great surprise, considering the language of the Sherman and other applicable antitrust acts, and the activities that took place last summer when the lobstermen take suspended "vanding" because of low prices.

Still none of this helps solve the problems of the lobstermen, who are now precluded from taking the only kind of resource they felt was open to them to 1957 in the interests of their economic survival. Most Maine people, moreover, are going to feel it is mighty unfair to force the lobstermen into the negative price restraints of the Sherman act, at the same time Maine's dairy industry is given the benefits of legalized price-fixing in defiance of the law of supply and demand, while the Federal Government, on a far broader scale, sustains the income of other farmers through subsidies from the pockets of taxpayers.

El Dorado, Kansas, Times: "It's passing strange," remarked El Dorado's old home paper not long ago, "how many goofs in every town can come up instantly with a proper plan to get the government out of its fix—but have no ideas whatever as to how to get their own country club on a paying basis."

Barre, Mass., Gazette: "What to us appears to be the summit in the stature of man was achieved in Herbert Hoover's newest book, The Ordeal of Woodrow Wilson, just published by McGraw-Hill. It presents with almost complete objectivity the heart-breaking struggle of Woodrow Wilson to give the world a good and just peace. It goes much further and now gives the world a detailed history of that high-minded endeavor from the brilliant mind and facile pen of the man who worked directly with the World War I president during that tragic era....

"Herbert Hoover has lived long enough to have seen both ends of the rainbow, with dim and grim years in between. In his newest and what will probably be his greatest written work, one would be callous indeed not to detect a deep and abiding sympathy for another great president who failed to find the pot of gold in his idealistic battle through life."

Houston, Texas, The Negro Labor News: "The record shows that the 'Right-To-Work' law does not impede unions in ... legitimate operations. It does not prevent a worker from joining a union, but prevents the union from forcing membership against the will of the worker, against his conscience, or firing him. ... The 'Right-to-Work' law protects the union member in his necessary freedom.

SONG OF THE SCYTHE

If you can remember when the first horseless carriage appeared in your home town, chances are you recall how proud Grandfather was of his ability to mow with scythe and scythe. And perhaps down the long corridor of years you can still hear the metallic, far-carrying, ringing notes as he stood the snath on end, pulled a whetstone from overall pocket and touched up the cutting edge of the scythe.

It is true that farmers had horse-pulled mowing machines in the days when fringed-top surreys were still a hallmark of a good farmer, but many farms had a few acres at one end of a field or a meadow where it was too soft soil for the mower. Mowing with a scythe is an art and Grandfather was a master craftsman. "Keep the toes down," he would say to a 12 year-older trying to master the craft. "Keep the heel down and take easy, swinging strokes. Don't try to cut too much at one swing. Remember, easy does it."

It was poetry in motion to watch him. Unhurriedly, rhythmically, the blade swung back and forth, coarse grass fell over smoothly. At each stroke, there was a faint whispering music as the razor-edged scythe shaved off the stems; at each stroke he edged forward a few inches, and the double track of his feet made narrow paths in the lush, heavy grass.

It is interesting that America's first patent was given to Joseph Jenks of the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1648 for an improved scythe. Jenks made a longer blade and welded a square bar on the back of the scythe to make it stronger.

Men still use scythes in swampy places, they still trim out around fences and walls and trees. Each year the market grows less; each year mechanization and replacement of land changes the farming scene. But there are those who can still hear the echoes of yesteryear on a summer's day when the notes of a whetstone on steel float by on an overhead breeze.

MAN'S RECIPE

ASIAN SPLIT PEA SOUP

I like pea soup and wish I could convert more of you to its goodness. I don't claim this is the equal of Surry Acres Pea Soup in Country Flavor Cookbook, but since I originated both recipes, perhaps you will take my word that today's recipe is worth trying.

You will agree with me, I know, that soups, stews and chowders are usually better eating the day after they are made. But I wanted a special pea soup, very easy to prepare, that could be concocted in the forenoon or early afternoon and be reasonably ripened in time for supper. Bess Bianchi, who doesn't go for pea soup as I do, calls this a good-flavored soup.

You need two quarts cold water, one pound yellow split peas, one medium carrot, cut in small pieces, one medium onion thinly sliced, one medium green pepper chopped fine, four tablespoons butter or margarine, one tablespoon salt, one fourth teaspoon pepper, one eighth teaspoon thyme, one fourth teaspoon parsley flakes.

Put all ingredients in a pot and bring slowly to a boil. Simmer (to

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Thursday, July 24

Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child he shall not enter therein. (Mark 10: 15.)

WHEN my younger daughter was small, she used to say: "I want to wonder." Then she would ask about the things which were puzzling her.

When we grow up, we become so involved in worldly cares that most of us lose the capacity to wonder. We forget that Jesus said so definitely that only the childlike could enter the kingdom. Often we confuse the words childish and childlike. It is with a mind full of wonder when confronted with the gospel and with simple trust in God's love that we find entrance into His kingdom.

The disciples must have been amazed when Jesus put such value on a child's attitude. Some of them were hoping for a good, safe job in the new kingdom. It was a long time before they understood what Jesus meant. But when they did, then they were able to live as Christ wanted them to do.

If we are to be converted and remain converted, we must have the childlike mind and heart. There is no other way.

PRAYER: O loving God, help us to become childlike in our daily living. May we never forget that this is the way of the Master. Let Thy love so dwell in us that we may be humble and content to let the Holy Spirit guide us. In our Lord's name. Amen.

Thought For The Day

May the childlike spirit be ours this day. —Raymond W. Fenn (Nova Scotia)

Scout Projects Boost Safety

By Jeanne Smith,
Dodge Safety Consultant

THE FAMOUS BOY SCOUT "good turn" credo has taken on a new and vital meaning this year.

Miss Smith

During 1958, the four and a half million Scouts in the United States will devote their efforts to "safety good turns" in the areas of traffic, bicycle, railroad and farm equipment safety.

A typical Scout traffic safety program is that of Explorer Post 8501, part of the Chicago Council of Boy Scouts.

Post Leader Lafayette Morrison, Jr., has tailored projects to the age group (14 years or older) and interests of his members. One of the boys already is a licensed driver, and seven are in the process of learning.

"I want to make good drivers out of these boys," Morrison told me, "not only for their own safety, but for that of other drivers and pedestrians.

"It's important to establish good driving habits in young people even before they are licensed to drive. Such habits can be effective safety guards for the rest of their lives."

As part of this training, Morrison's post has embarked on a "Find The Errors" campaign. Each boy keeps a tally of the driver and pedestrian violations he notes in traffic, and then reports back to meetings for group discussion.

In 1958 like these, Boy Scouts everywhere can boost traffic safety as part of their 1958 "Live For Tomorrow" safety campaign.

Your Washington Report

Congressman
ROBERT HALE

School Lunches—Maine schools will get more money and more high grade foods such as meat, poultry and eggs from the Federal government for the school lunch program during the coming school year.

The Agriculture Department has announced that Maine's share of Federal funds is $68,956, an increase of $2,967 over last year. In addition the Department has announced that the cash value of the purchase and distribution of food Maine will share in this also.

Congress created the funds for the benefit of farmers by requiring customs receipts for food purchases, including meat and poultry products for school lunches. I had strongly urged such action.

The Agriculture Department had previously used Section 32 funds only for the distribution of surplus commodities, which last year did not include high protein foods. Maine schools were therefore handicapped to provide adequate diets within the limits of available funds.

The school lunch program has grown steadily in Maine in recent years. The number of children being fed has increased from 27,000 in fiscal year 1947 to 50,000 in fiscal 1957.

Humane Slaughter—Many people have written this year in support of humane slaughter legislation. I voted for a House bill passed last February, but this measure has been weakened by a Senate Committee so that now it specifies only for a two year investigation by the Secretary of Agriculture. It is hoped that the full Senate will override this committee action and restore the effective House language.

Airport Aid—My House Committee considered legislation this week providing Federal aid for airports. A Senate-passed bill includes a provision authorizing Federal funds for seal coating of small airport runways. This is a problem in Maine where weather causes considerable deterioration. I had also introduced appropriate legislation.

Airports in the Great Maine Woods—Two eligible for Federal aid would be Windham, Freeport, South Portland, Norway, Lisbon, Rumford, Andover, Bethel, Fryeburg, Topsham, Dover-Foxcroft, Houlton, Presque Isle, Caribou, Eastport, Machias, Ellsworth, Bangor, Old Town, Skowhegan, Waterville, Augusta, Rockland, Belfast, Bath, Brunswick, Lewiston, Auburn, Sanford, Kittery, Wells, Biddeford, Saco, Old Orchard, Portland, Wiscasset, Damariscotta, Thomaston, Rockport, Camden, Belfast, Searsport, Bucksport, Orland, Blue Hill, Deer Isle, Stonington, Sedgwick, Brooklin, Southwest Harbor, Mount Desert, Northeast Harbor, Bar Harbor, Trenton, Ellsworth, Machias, Eastport, Calais, Princeton, Millinocket, Dover-Foxcroft, Greenville, Jackman, Rangeley, Farmington, Wilton, Strong, Phillips, Kingfield, Stratton, Eustis, Carrabassett, Madison, Anson, Norridgewock, Skowhegan, Oakland, Waterville, Fairfield, Pittsfield, Newport, Dexter, Corinth, Bangor, Orono, Old Town, Milford, Lincoln, Howland, Patten, Houlton, Presque Isle, Caribou, Fort Kent, Van Buren, Madawaska, Limestone, Loring, Jonesport, Machiasport, Lubec

FLYING SAUCER?—This strange looking aircraft, flying on one engine, is actually an early-warning airplane designed for Navy carriers. Long-range detection equipment housed in the saucer-like radome gives early warning of impending enemy attack.

PIGGY-BACK SCHOONER—Although this three-masted square rigger appears to be stealing a ride on the deck of a new U.S. sub, actually was some distance away when photographed. The Norwegian old-timer has a feature role in a current movie called "Windjammer."

DESTRUCTION FOR NEW CONSTRUCTION—With just one steady pull on the cable, this International Drott TD-9 Skid-Shovel topples a shack that stood in the way of progress for the new Atlanta, Ga., expressway. After the tractor had pulled over the shack, it returned and loaded out the debris.

How dare you accuse me?

Honestly, Mrs. Throckmorton, we only meant to tell you that someone was careless, yes maybe you. This carelessness caused a forest fire that destroyed thousands of forest acres, killed wildlife, ruined recreation areas. Last year about 143,000 fires burned over 6,000,000 acres of valuable forest land. Most of these fires could have been prevented if everyone had remembered to be careful. This year, be more careful than ever because the danger is greater.

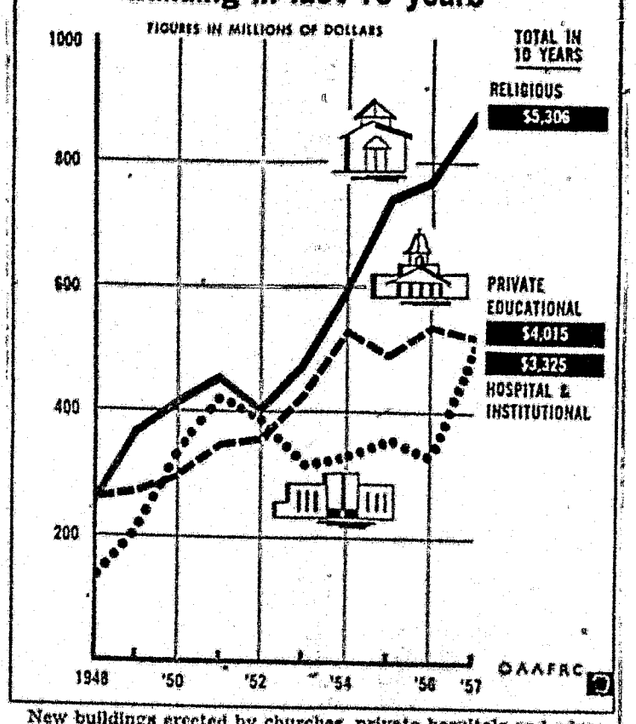
Over $12 billion given to philanthropic building in last 10 years



New buildings erected by churches, private hospitals and educational institutions have added more than $12 billion to the philanthronic assets of the United States during the past decade, according to The American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel. Total philanthropic assets of the United States are now estimated well in excess of $170 billion.

New religious construction increased from $251 million annually in 1948 to $868 million in 1957. Educational construction was $253 in 1948 and reached $519 million last year. Private hospital construction jumped from $126 million a year to $505 million in the same decade. Much of this construction was made possible by generous gifts of the public to special campaigns, assisted by professional fund-raising counsel.

NATION IS EATING MORE N. E. CREAM STYLE CORN

An aggressive promotion campaign to put more New England cream style corn on the nation's tables has been successful in greatly reducing a once-serious over supply, The New England Council disclosed today.

Some 600,000 cases were lying in warehouses when an emergency meeting of growers, canners and distributors, chairmaned by NEC board chairman Raymond H. Trott, was called last January to discuss the situation. Since then, about 415,000 case have been shipped throughout and outside New England and officials expect a carryover to the next crop of only 100,000 cases.

From a low of 31,635 cases shipped in December of 1957 sales jumped to 80,617 in January and hit a new high of 84,689 cases this June. Of that number, 29,127 cases were sent beyond the six-state region. Sales for the other four months were: February, 70,505; March, 61,587; April, 34,078; and May, 58,473.

With the new markets established and a smaller, later crop in prospect this year, officials are not anticipating another over-supply problem. Actual corn plantings in 1958 came to 4,535 acres, which will yield an estimated 453,000 cases of the cream variety or about 170,000 cases less than last year.

The marketing situation has improved so much, in fact, that many observers feel the canners would have contracted for more acreage had they anticipated such excellent movement.

$32 MILLION IN HIGHWAY PROJECTS AWARDED IN 1958

The State Highway Commission reports the estimated total cost of all State and Federal-aid construction projects awarded during the fiscal year ending June 20, 1958 was $32,016,274. The total for a similar period the previous year was $19,226,268.

MAINE FARM ACCIDENTS KILLED 72 LAST YEAR

Twenty-two Maine people were killed in farm accidents last year, reports Frank H. Bailey, of Augusta, chairman of the Maine Farm and Home Safety Council.

"As we near the end of National Farm Safety Week, July 20 to 26, it's useful to reduce that tragic total of death on the farm this year" says Bailey.

The 22 farm accident deaths in Maine in 1957 resulted in crash and 9 drownin. Falls were the most frequent cause of accidental death.

Seven persons were killed in falls on Maine farms last year. One was killed in a fall down stairs. Two persons were killed in other falls from one level to another, while three lost their lives in falls on the same level. The seventh death resulted from an unspecified fall.

The next biggest cause of farm accident deaths in Maine was accidents caused by fire and explosion of combustible material. Five persons lost their lives in this manner.

Five farm deaths were caused by accidental drowning. Hunger and thirst (presumably where persons were lost in the woods) and exposure caused two deaths. Two deaths also were caused by accidental shooting.

Ten deaths each resulted from three other types of accidents. In one case a tractor overturned and killed a man. Another farmer was striking a cow when she kicked and crushed him. The other death resulted from choking and injuries of an object causing obstruction and suffocation.

Elton Gilbreth, Maine Director of the Division Department of Health and Welfare provided the Maine Farm and Home Safety Council with the figures on farm accident deaths in Maine.

BUYING NOT A "PATRIOTIC DUTY," MAGAZINE SAYS

The American consumer has no "patriotic duty" to buy now in order to pull the country out of the recession, according to the editors of "Changing Times," the Kiplinger Magazine.

In a copyrighted article, "What To Do About The Recession" the editors advise their readers against buying as a patriotic duty to help business. "The freedom to buy or not to buy is vital corrective of excesses of production, pricing and so on. If consumers were to buy as a patriotic duty they would throw away the one advantage they have [illegible] the editors say.

"Most business are holding back on purchases waiting for lower prices. The auto companies, for example, are trying hard to crash the department store checkout lead squirrel. We are playing it close to the chest on all our buying this year."

"Buy with an eye to your needs and carefully weigh price and quality. In doing so you will be exercising the most prudent businessmen formulate" the magazine advises.

WINNERS NAMED IN 4-H DAIRY JUDGING

The Franklin County team placed first followed by Androscoggin [illegible] Oxford and the 4-H Club composed the second place team.

INDIANS DESCEND ON MAYVILLE AGAIN!

Four Indian tribes are back on their Mayville reservation again. The Indians who make up the four tribes are braves and maidens from many states in the U. S. whose parents are attending the National Training Laboratory as delegates or are staff members of this organization.

These Indians spend the day at Teepee Town learning many secrets of nature lore, taking walks through the woods, designing Indian motifs to decorate their tepees, playing games, both quiet and active, singing many songs, riding horseback and swimming. They all take time out for refreshments at mid-morning and mid-afternoon.

The following Indians who make up the Sioux, Cherokee, Navaho, and Apache tribes are Bryan and Sue Abendroth of Marinette, Wisconsin; Joanna Coal of Teaneck, N. J.; Peter, Becky and Micael Horwitz of Greatneck, N. J.; Allan Horwitz of New York City; Barry Ingersoll of Ithaca, N. Y.; Norma and Michael Ladin of Chicago, Ill.; Martha Lippitt of Ann Arbor, Mich.; Constance Lippitt of Springfield, Ind.; James and Nancy Leone of Long Island, N. Y.; David and Sara Miles of New Jersey; Freda and Kirk Otto of Georgia; Anita and Roberta Sweet of Coral Gables, Fla.; Steven Sears of Nashville, Tenn.; Sandy and Ronald Schmidt of Sepulveda, Calif.; John Vandercar of Maryland; Steven Wedge of Germantown, Mich.; Larry Weeks of Frederick, Ind.; and Stewart, Bruce and David Work of Los Angeles, Calif.

Also camping are Kenneth Hansen of Bryant Pond and Barbara and Pamela Douglass of Bethel.

Assisting "Pamplin" Douglass who is the Director are "Jay-Ess" Gail Waldron of Poland, Maine; Mary Lippitt of Springfield, Ind.; Joe Work of Los Angeles, Calif.; Jean Kelley, Beverly Blake, Sue Knoland, George Eyper, and Cheryl and Dana Douglass, all of Bethel.

700 JAPANESE BEETLE TRAPS IN FEDERAL-STATE SURVEY

Some 700 Japanese beetle traps have been placed in 62 Maine cities and towns as the first step in a three-year Federal-State survey of Maine's urban and agricultural areas.

This year's work is done west of the Kennebec river, south of Bingham and north of the present infestation area, which itself is a diamond-shaped zone the southwestern tip of the state northeast to Lewiston.

E. S. Russell of Gardiner, district supervisor of the USDA's Plant Pest Control Division, said the present survey has not been initiated because of an increase of infestation in the state. It is, he said part of a new program designed to determine the spread of the national infestation, which costs farmers and home owners nine ten million dollars annually in crop and plant losses.

The Maine infestation was placed under quarantine 25 years ago, and has not increased in size or degree to any significant extent since that year, Russell said.

The beetle traps are yellow, less than a foot in height and are suspended three feet above ground on metal supports. They contain an aromatic oil, bait for the shiny metallic green beetle, less than a half inch long as an adult.

"If beetles are found in a locality under conditions suggesting an infestation, and where there appears to be some likelihood of spread from the locality, it will be necessary to consider extending the area under quarantine, or applying control measures," Russell said.

A study of 12,000 driver license tests shows women drivers are as good as men, except for one thing.

WOMEN DRIVERS AS GOOD AS MEN — ALMOST SAY EXPERTS

Driver license tests analyzed by a leading safety group show that women applicants rate just as high as men—except for one difference. Women have a harder time parking their cars.

The conclusion is one of many reached by experts at New York University's Center for Safety Education after going through 12,000 New York State road tests records.

The survey is part of an over-all three year research program launched by the Center to determine what personal traits lead drivers to have auto accidents, to develop better tests for driver licensing and to investigate methods for rehabilitation of chronic traffic accident repeaters. The three year research program has been made possible by a $50,000 grant to the Center by Shell Oil Company.

Examining the road tests, traffic experts found that those failing their tests for the first time did so because of poor judgment in approaching intersections, poor steering control, delayed braking and cutting corners.

Those who passed their tests on the first try also had their faults.

MT. ABRAM FISH & GAME ASSN. MEETS

Forty-four met at the Town Hall, Locke Mills, on July 17, for the regular meeting of the Mt. Abram Fish and Game Association. The meeting was called to order by President Arthur Gilbert and was preceded by a pot luck supper.

These were failure to observe or to signal in starting, excessive maneuvering in parking and parking too far from the curb.

These and other conclusions made during the study are being released by the Center for use by driver education instructors and prospective driver license applicants.

Volunteers were asked to bake beans for the lobster and baked bean supper on Aug. 2. Several ladies also volunteered to solicit for pies. The president asked for all who could to meet at West Bethel Grange Hall on July 21 to do some necessary work in preparation for the supper.

Walter "Pete" Grover will go to camp along with a boy from West Paris.

Sam Smith spoke about the idea of some citizens wanting Grafton Notch made into a State Park.

Two movies from New England Tel. and Tel. were enjoyed.
